CHIANG KAI-SHEK HIMSELF TO CRITICAL OPERATIONS

Shanghai, Oct. 27.

Foreign military observers report that the Japanese captured North Station at 7 o'clock this morning.—United Press.

CLAIM KEY-POINTS TAKEN

Shanghai, Oct. 27.

The Japanese claim to have captured several key positions and declare that a full retreat of the Chinese troops to the south continued throughout yesterday.

However, many Chinese troops were caught in a "drag net" spread around an area of ten kilometres square to the north-west of the International Settlement by the Japanese forces, and they will be either wiped out or forced to enter the International Settlement or French Concession, after disarming, it is said.

Shanghai, Oct. 27. Japanese bulejackets started steam-roller attack from Chapei to Hongkew Park at dawn. They made a general advance and captured the North Station where Japanese flugs were hoisted at 6.50 a.m., the Chinese having withdrawn at 6.35. Bugles were blown as the flag went up marking the capture of not only the station, but the adjoining Administration Building.

The Japanese advance is continuing over the whole of the Chapel and Hongkew Park sector.

Meanwhile, Japanese forces which struck southward from Tazara, are also advancing towards the Shanghai-Nanking Railway position at Kinngwan. At the moment it is not known, but it is considered certain, that the Chinese must have withdrawn overnight,-Reuter.

Two men were seriously injured in Wanchai about 8.10 a.m. to-day when bus No. 641 crashed into a Chinese dentist's shop at 43 Queen's Road East in an attempt to avoid a pedestrian who suddenly ran across the road.

The shop window was smashed to pieces, and the water pipe near the entrance to the floors was burst open, The injured men are:

Leung Wah, 42, P.W.D. workman, whose right leg was crushed; Cheng Tso-po, 65, who received injuries. Both of them are now in the Queen

Mary Hospital. Driven by Yu Wing, the bus was crowded with passengers at the time of the accident. According to him, he was proceeding from east to west and when near the place in question, pedestrian suddenly dashed across the road. He immediately swerved but in so doing he lost control and the vehicle smashed into the shop over five-yard pavement which was full of people at the time. Persons at the scene of the accident say a Chinese woman was killed in the crash, but police are not aware of any fatality.

My Ideal House has

O you remember the old maxim—a place for everything and everything in its place? I always assoclate this with cupboard room. Plenty of cupboards simplify cleaning and enable you to train the family into the good habit of tidiness.

We may miss the capacious cupboards of the Victorian house, but the ingenious built-in fitments of to-day make up for them. And you can nearly always find room in an odd corner for an additional cupboard unit.
These units are useful for providing extra storage space upstairs. For example, a unit dressing table might be flanked on one side by a low cupboard for boots and shoes, and on the other by a unit wardrobe, which can be set apart for the husband's use.

Boots & Shoes

A boot and shoe cupboard is in any case a practical addition to the bedroom. It is fitted with a double tier of racks (these allow the air to circulate round the shoes) and a curtain pulls nerosa the front. One particularly schalble wardrobe has sliding doors and is made 21 inches deep so that it will take cont hangers comfortably. It is sometimes a good plan to put this second wardrobe on the landing. especially if you use it for storing clothes not in everyday use.

. Bathroom cabinet and medicine cupboard go without saying, but I find a small cupboard for bath cleaning materials handy, and It saves a good deal of running up and down stairs. Put it alongside the bath, enamel it to match the rest of the scheme, fit it with a cork or linoleum top, and you have a useful stool.

Ceiling High

Two ceiling-high built-in cupboards, with a smaller one between them, make a practical fitment for one wall in the dining room, and it can sometimes be constructed from two existing cupboards.

In this case face the doors with plywood, in them with plain bar handles, and chamel them to bring them into line with the rest of the scheme. One

Where Woman Rules

How many Britons, have ever realised that France is primarily an ngricultural country, in which family life is all-important and the woman holds the purse-strings,:

"The women govern France," a Frenchman said to me. I might have answered by asking him how that I knew that what he said was true, vote or no vote.

In money matters the French woman has the power. She is the effective government of France. When she says, "No," it is time for politicians to call a halt and look into things.

But it has always been the traditional attitude in this country, whilst conceding that woman does rule the roost in France, to regard her rule as one of frivolity. There was a time, not so long ago, when the Englishman's habit was to fix his monocle in his eye and remark complacently, "Ah, yes-the French.

Flying By The Stars

Owing to the remarkable development of long distance flying during the past few years, the problem of air-navigation has become increasingly important. At present the chie. methods by which a pilot can discover his position are, firstly, "dead reckoning," and, secondly, by wireless directional signals. As the former method is sometimes inaccurate and the latter restricted in range, the necessity of discovering new methods has been apparent ever since the aeroplane first became a factor in world transport. In Great Britain it was held that the best means of solving the problem would be to develop and simplify the technique of marine navigation, which so far has been of little value to aircraft on | America, and as my work took account of the involved calculations necessary to estimate by the sun and stars the position of a machine in flight.

At the request of the Air Ministry, the Astronomer Royal, Head of Greenwich Observatory, undertook to carry out this vitally important work, and it was announced recently that the first of a series of tables was ready for publication, by means of which an air pilot should be able to plot on his chart a "position line" (on which his machine must lie) within three minutes of taking an observation. Also, a comprehensive work, which will show the positions of the sun and stars in a form suited to the requirements of air navigation, is being prepared. Upon my arrival in London I went to a young men's hostel, where I was welcomed by the secretary, who was the essence of politeness.

THERE came a time when I was compelled to find cheaper lodgings than those my worthy friend recommended to me.

Day after day I roamed the West End of London, knocking at every door where there was an "Apartments" sign, only to be told "Sorry, room's let," or "We do not take coloured people." One woman actually slammed her door without answering my request.

Eventually I secured rooms in a back alley in the East End. After months of job hunting and frequent visits to my friend "Moses," I squared accounts with my landlady, and with only a few LSO I came in contact with various Christian bodies who have "drummed" up a reputation as philanthropists by giving out shillings with one hand while they take in pounds with the other. I have seen these people sell religion to starving men at the price of a meal-men too tired tostand up after they had once sat down were forced to sing hymns and listen to "the mercles of God" before they were fed. Although there are so many people who make a business out of religion, I am glad to say that. there are a great many genuine organisations run by honest and sincere people. I owe my thanks. to a number of these.

When England was in trouble in 1014, the echo of her war drums was heard by her black sons. They didn't know what it was all about —they only knew that the Mother Country was in a tight corner and needed help. They came in their thousands and gave their lives.

To-day some of those black sons are rotting in London. The majority of them are seamen, all willing to work.

MOSLEMS CHALLENGE TO THE CONGRESS OF INDIA

Want Co-operation On Equal Terms

COMING CHANGE IN THE LEAGUE'S CREED

CHANGE in the creed of the All-India Moslem League was hinted at by Maulana Zafar Ali Khan of Lahore, in his presidential address at the Calcutta Moslem League Conference recently.

The Maulana challenged the claim of the Congress to represent the Mostems of India. The latter, he said, were prepared to co-operate with the Congress on equal terms. but would never merge themselves into the Congress.

He declared that a great crisis had arisen in their affairs. They found that they had been handed over to the tender mercies of the majority community where the rule was that of the vote.

A' shell crashed in a Shanghai street and among the innocent victims was this ricksha runner, stricken between the shafts of his native vehicle.

The new constitution, he declared, had done more harm to the cause of Islam and the Moslems of India than to the cause of the Hindus,

He then criticised the main features of the Constitution and described how the Congress, in spite of its declared policy to put an end to it, had agreed to accept office and co-operate with Britain within the four corners of the Constitution so far as provincial nutonomy was concerned.

MR. GANDHI'S INFLUENCE Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, he said, was against office acceptance. Though a great power in the land, the Pandit was only of secondary importance so far as the settlement of affairs in India was concerned. The man of primary importance was Mr. Gandhi and he gave the fint for office acceptance.

Continuing, the Maulana said if the Congress claim to represent the Moslems was an honest one, they could have expected from it fair treatment of the Moslem minority in the provinces where the Congress was in a majority. Not a single Moslem Minister had been included in the Cabinet of Orissa and not much better treatment had been accorded to them in other Congress provinces.

"PERNICIOUS" PRINCIPLE The "pernicious" principle laid down by Pandit Jawaharial Nehru had had its effect everywhere. The Pandit declared that there were only this statement and said that there was a third power, namely, the Television will be shown on Moslems, and they could not be magnified screen, for 15 minutes in ignored.

Continuing, the Maulana said that the great question before the Moslems of India at the present time was to sink all their differences and to put the ideal of complete independence before them. The question of changing the creed of the Moslem League would be settled at the coming asssion of that body at Lucknow. When this was done the League would take the place of the Congress and then they would be in a position to diclate their

A neck-and-neck race for the county championship saw Yorkshire win by a short nose; Northern dourness conquered Southern vivaciousness at the crisis.

Patsy Hendren scored a century in his last match at Lord's and a wonderful scene ensued in the mellowing August warmth; the crowd sang "Auld Lang Syne;" even the patricians of the Lord's pavilion staggered to their feet, cleared their chest registers of gathering bronchitis, and emitted fervent crotchets and quavers.

Warrensburg, Mo. It may or may not be a record, but when Wilson Morris, 21, finished playing 147 holes of golf over the Warrensburg course in one day recently he was ready to submit it as

Morris' score testifies to the fact he was playing golf, not a hit-and-run game. He was 3 strokes under the 16 and a fraction 9-hole rounds in 555 strokes. Par for the 147 holes, total 589. With Jack Bishop of Carterville, Morris started play at 5 a.m. when unable to see the first green clearly. Bishop was forced to give up after 99 holes because of illness. He took 430 strokes, 34 over par.

Morris continued playing, with a caddy and another witness. The first 80 holes were played without a caddy, the men lugging their own bags and dragging the sand greens.

NAVY OFFICERS BEAT ARMY

(By "The Pilgrim")

In their return friendly hockey fixture at King's Park yesterday, the Navy Officers, on their own ground, repeated their former success over Army Officers by a clear margin of three goals. Navy Officers were the better team not so much because they played well themselves but because the Army men played so badly. The Army attack never seemed to get going and gave a most disappointing display, Twenty minues through the first half, the Navy established an ascendancy and led by 2-0 before the interval arrived. Lieut. Blacker, after a well-organised movement on the left, tested Lieut. Melcalf, making the latter leave his charge for a good clearance. The ball was only partially cleared to the edge of the circle, however, and Licut. Spittle obtained possession and sent in a drive which gave the goal-keeper little time for recovery. A few minutes later in a breakway by Sub. Lieut, Turner, the Navy left-winger, the ball was driven across the Army goal-mouth and Surg. Lieut. Commdr. Fletcher dashed in from the right and found the net with a well-placed shot.

PLAYERS BREAK LAWS WITH IMPUNITY

Rulers And Offences In The Scrummage

Admiral Percy Royds, one of England's Rugby lawmakers on the International Board, has explained what was at the back of the minds of the International Board when they publicly criticised referees for not administering the laws severely enough in international matches.

Admiral Royds has made it clear that their chief complaint is what goes on around a scrum, where, the board maintain, things go on that are so self-evident that they felt they had to draw the attention of international referees to them.

NANKING'S TROOPS CARRY OUT ORDERLY RETREAT, FIGHTING REAR-GUARD ACTION STIFF

Shanghai, Oct. 27 (11.50 a.m.).

The worst fire in the Far East, since Tokyo was burned after the historic earthquake in 1923, is raging in Chapei.

The whole of the northern sky is black with dense smoke.

As they withdrew from their old lines the Chinese blew up mines and set fire to buildings covering more than a square mile of territory.

Appalled, but fascinated, thousands are watching the spectacle from windows and roofs in the areas.

It is feared a large force of Chinese, left in Chapei to fight a rear guard action and cover the retreat of the main army, has been completely cut off. It is facing annihilation, with Japanese troops on three sides and the grim International Settlement guards on the fourth.

Meanwhile, it is officially stated that the Chinese defence line runs from the western border of the International Settlement to Chungshan Road, and thence to the Shanghai-Nanking railway inne through Chenju and Nanziang. From there it turns in a right-angle to the north-east, running as far as Kwanfu. From there it turns to Liuho, on the Yangtse.

habit of tidiness. We may miss the capacious cupboards of the Victorian house, but the ingenious built-in fitments of to-day make up for them. And you can nearly always find room in an odd corner for an additional cupboard unit.

These units are useful for providing extra storage space upstairs. For example, a unit dressing table might be flanked on one side by a low cup board for boots and shoes, and on the other by a unit wardrobe, which can be set apart for the husband's use.

Boots & Shoes

A boot and shoe cupboard is in any case a practical addition to the bedroom. It is fitted with a double tier of racks (these allow the air to circulate round the shoes) and a curtain pulls across the front.

One particularly sensible wardrobe has sliding doors and is made 21 menes deep so that it will take coat hangers comfortably. It is sometimes a good plan to put this second wardrobe on the landing. especially if you use it for storing clothes not in everyday use.

Bathroom cabinet and medicine cupboard go without saying, but I find. a small cupboard for bath cleaning materials handy, and it saves a good deal of running up and down stairs. Put it alongside the bath, enamel it to match the rest of the scheme, fit it with a cork or lineleum top, and you have a uneful stool.

Ceiling High

Two celling-high built-in cupboards, with a smaller one between them. make a practical fitment for one wall in the dining room, and it can sometimes be constructed from two existing cupboards.

In this case face the doors with plywood, fit them with plain bar handles, and enamel them to bring them into line with the rest of the scheme. One

Make the most of the space under the sink. This can be entirely boxed in, and there is usually room for two goodsized cupboards, still allowing free access to the waste pipe. These can be kept for pails and scrubbing brushes. Screw hooks to the inside of the doors plie of plates. Extra food cupboards depend on the size of the kitchen cabinet and larder, but I find that a separate one for dry stores relieves pressure on the larder. when extra supplies are ordered at holiday times.

Some of these cupboards have ventilated top sections, and so can be used for storing meat, butter and milk. Cupboard linings are important. Those in the living rooms look attracsentimental and emotional race, which for all its sentiment and emotion has a hard core of resolution in its heart. But writers and thinkers like Andre Maurois understand us: and there are more of them France to-day than ever there were. The popularity of Maurois with British readers is an index to the importance of this factor of-Understanding.

on or before Thursday, the 28th How are we to ensure the progressive development of that all-signifleant quality? The answer, surely, lies in the word Education. Not the mere education of school and University, though that is important; but the wider education which is acquired by men and women of the world through human contacts.

We still know little of the realities of each other's lives on both sides of the English Channel. The French are not travellers, but stayat-homes. They think there is no country on earth like their own, and who shall blame them? And so, having the best, they do not leave

Frenchmen should travel more. In particular, they should come more often to Britain, to see how we live, and what it is that makes us, despite all our failings from illogicality and sentimentality downwards, a power still in the affairs of the modern world. We travel more than the French. We always have been travellers, for business and pleasure alike. But, so for as France is concerned, we lars please apply to:see as a rule that part of the country which is cosmopolitan, and therefore has nothing distinctive to teach to the student of national idiosyncrasy | General Managers, Indo-China S.N. and characteristics. Where Woman Rules

How many Britons have ever realised that France is primarily an agricultural country, is which family life is all-important and the woman holds the purse-strings.

"The women govern France," a Frenchman said to me. I might have answered by asking him how that she says, "No," it is time for politicians to call a halt and look into things.

But it has always been the traditional attitude in this country, whilst conceding that woman does rule the roost in France, to regard her rule as one of frivolity. There was a time, not so long ago, when the Englishman's habit was to fix his monocle in his eye and remark com-placently, "Ah, yes—the French. Such an esseminate nation!"

Now, esseminate nations do not bring up Napoleons, But nations which take their womanhood seriously produce great men, the sons of brilliant and purposeful mothers. This is one of the significant things which we have to learn about

There is, indeed, so much we have to learn from each other, and it is so important to the future of day, states prices were slightly humanity that it should be learned. in a still restricted market. The qualities of the two nations are complementary in a very full sense. Learning from Each Other.

In the art of living, we have much to learn from France. In the sphere of finance and credit-management they have much to learn from us. We can teach them how to pay their taxes with a smile, and they can teach us how to enjoy what we have left over when the taxes are paid.

We have in common chiefly the passionate determination to preserve the liberty of the individual, now so dangerously menaced in so many parts of the world.

The establishment in the heart of educational London of a cultural agency so exotle as the Institut Francais du Royaume Uni, of which I am chairman, and its success in attracting British as well as French students and student-teachers, is proof that even in our young people there is the capacity for mutual sympathy and understanding between Britain and France. And once the young folk understand each other, the rest is very

The fall of Tazang was attributed by Chinese military authorities to the superior arms of the Japanese which subjected the Chinese positions to

Cotton: Doubt is arising as to the passage of any farm bill during the next session of Congress due to the wide divergence of opinion among the interested groups. The Stars Flying By

Owing to the remarkable development of long distance flying during the past few years. the problem of air-navigation become increasingly important. At present the chie. methods by which a pilot can discover his position are, firstly, "dead reckoning," and, secondly, by wireless directional signals. As the former method is sometimes inaccurate and the latter restricted in range, the necessity of discovering new methods has been apparent ever since the aeroplane first became a factor in world transport. In Great Britain it was held that the best means of solving the problem would be to develop and simplify the technique of marine navigation, which so far has been of little value to aircraft on America, and as my work took account of the involved calcula- | me to various other countries. ions necessary to estimate by including America and Canada, the sun and stars the position of I was kept continually on the

Also, a comprehensive work, which will show the positions of the sun and stars in a form suited to the requirements of air navigation, is being prepared. I wanted stability after the years of hectic living. I had a craving for the finer things which life had to offer-a chance to expand in every way. Where could I find these things? I had a sudden brain-

How excited I was: I was going to England-England, my Meccal What a farce!

Aboard the ship (British) I' enjoyed a state of splendid isolation—a table tucked away in a corner and so on.

Upon my arrival in London I went to a young men's hostel, -where-I-was-welcomed-by-thesecretary, who was the essence of politeness.

"Good evening, brother," he says, rubbing his hands together in a manner which says so much yet means nothing at all, "and what can I.do for you?"

Wanted accommodation, his face registered perplexity. Using the pretext that he would have to take a run upstairs to find out if there were any vacant rooms (what he actually wanted was sufficient time to compose his features), he scuttled away. He was back in "arf a mo"rubbing his harids again and dripping apologies.

THERE came a time when I was compelled to find cheaper lodgthan those my worthy friend recommended to me. Day after day I roamed the West End of London, knocking at every door where there was an "Apartments" sign, only to be told "Borry, room's let," or " We do not take coloured people." One woman actually slammed her door without answering my request.

-- Eventually I secured rooms in aback alley in the East End.

After months of job hunting and frequent visits to my friend "Moses," I squared accounts with my landlady, and with only a few. pennies in my pockets, walked out. LSO I came in contact with various Christian bodies who have "drummed" up a reputation as philanthropists by giving out shillings with one hand while they take in pounds with the other. I have seen these people sell-religion to starving men at the price of a meal-men too tired to stand up after they had once sat down were forced to sing hymns and listen to " the mercies of God " before they were fed. No prayers

-no food! Although there are so many people who make a business out of religion. I am glad to say that there are a great many genuine organisations run by honest and sincere people. I owe my thanks-to a number of these. When England was in trouble in 1914, the echo of her war drums was heard by her black sons. They didn't know what it was all about -they only knew that the Mother Country was in a tight corner and needed help. They came in their thousands and gave their lives.

OME people may ask or wonder why we who are dissatisfied remain here in England or, as one hears it every day, "Why we do not goback to our own country." The answer is: Because the coloured. man very seldom admits defeat. On the other hand, perhaps it is fortunate that we have not all gone back to our countries:

The flame of patriotism still burns strong in those parts of the Empire where the coloured man. dwells. It would be a pity if contrary winds should arise. Remember that the structure of this mighty Empire is built up on the loyalty and long sufferance of its coloured peoples!

Chief P. O. Writer Admits Offence

Long Record Of Fine Service

Pleading guilty to charges of fraudulent conversion and negligently performing his duty on August 14, Chief Petty Officer Writer A. C. H..C. Grigg, (H.M.S. Tamer) was sentenced on the two charges by Court Mortial abourd H.M.S. Medway this morning to be dis-rated to Writer and to be dismissed the service.

Accused, who had nearly 30 years' service in the Royal Navy, was stated to have had offences proved against him in respect of cheating at a tombole, among other things.

The Court comprised Capt. C. B. Barry, D.S.O. (H.M.S. Medway), President; Capt. A. E. M. B. Cunning-Capt. E. G. N. Rushbrooke, D.S.C., (Captain on the Staff), Cmdr. R. M. Rick, D.S.C., (H.M.S. Dainty), Cmdr. E. M. Loly (H.M.S. Westcott);

Cmdr. C. B. Arbuthnot, (H.M.S. Tamar) prosecuted and was assisted by Pay.-Lt.-Cmdr. S. A. Jollife (H.M.S. Tamar). The Defending Officer was Warrant Writer J. Brain (H.M.S. Tamar). Pay.-Cmdr. H. G. Oswin was Deputy Judge Advocate. The charges were: 1, that accused being entrusted with $81.36 to obtain a cash remittance order for C.E.R. A. P. Wilson, (H.M.S. Senmew). fraudulently converted the money to his own use on August 14; 2, negligently failed to deliver to Pay.-Lieut. J. O. Britton the above sum on the same day.

DETAIL OF CHARGE

The circumstantial letter stated that: Wilson called at the Tamar to draw his Naval Pension. The sum of $408.20 was paid him by Pay,-Lt.-Cmdr. Britton, the Assistant Accountant Officer. Wilson then asked accused, who is the senior accountant rating in that office, if he could remit £5 of his pension money to his wife. The accused assented, made out Form S.66 in triplicate for £5 in favour of Mrs. Elsie K. Wilson, 3, Larkfield Avenue, Gillingham, Kent. Chief Engine Room Artificer Wilson signed the form and handed $81.36 to accused. The official rate of the Hongkong dollar was then 1s. 23/d.

The accused, saying that he "would ; give this money to the Paymaster right away," left the office estensibly to do so. He returned and said to Wilson: "That is all right, it will be forwarded by the next Air Mail and 'I will send on your receipt." On September 23 Wilson received a cable from his wife asking him to send her £5 so that she might settle her district rates. Wilson had not then received the remittance receipt referred to nor had he received it since.

He announced the fact to Leading Writer J. G. Jeffery and they observed that it contained inter alia, all three copies of a remittance of £5 made by Wilson. They noted that the remittance was made out in the handwriting of the accused.

Lending Writer Ellioit decided to pursue the matter and, having detached the three sheets and locked them up in his own drawer, replaced the remittance book in the drawer in which he had found it. On October 8 Elllott interviewed Wilson and then reported the circumstances to Pny-Lt.-Cmdr. Britton.

Later, -Pay.-Lt. Cmdr. Britton ordered a search to be carried out in the Pay office for the missing remittance book. In this search, the accused. Elliott and Jeffery took part. On the accused professing himself unable to produce the book, Pay-Lt.-Cmdr. Britton went to the Pay Office and ordered all locked drawers to be opened. The accused unlocked his drawer. The book was not there.

On October 13, accused approached Lleut. W. E. Davey, (H.M.S. Tamar) and asked him for a loan of $100 representing that unless he could' produce that sum within a few minutes, disciplinary action would be taken against him. Lieut, Davey replied that he would give his decision in ten minutes' time.

BRITAIN TO DEVELOP CHARCOAL BURNING

London, Oct. 26. Efforts are being made to revive the skilled craft of charcoal burning in England. This highly skilled occupation, formerly much practiced in the English countryside, had declined owing to the competition of foreign imports and other causes, but a steadily growing industrial demand for charcoal, some of which is due to the Government's rearmament programme has given impetus to the movement for re-establishing home production.-British Wireless.

Neville Cardus Sums Up England's Game

The cricket season came in like a lamb and has gone out like a lion. After cold days in May the sunshine blessed our fields, and batsmen lifted up their hearts. Prodigious quantities of runs have been made, and brilliantly made.

Morris' score testifies to the fact he was playing golf, not a hit-and-run game. He was 3 strokes under the 16 and a fraction 9-hole rounds in 555 strokes. Par for the 147 holes, total 589.

With Jack Bishop of Carterville, With Jack Bishop of Carterville, ill., a visitor, as a companion, Morris started play at 5 a.m. when unable to see the first green clearly. Bishop was forced to give up after 99 holes because of illness. He took 430 strokes, 34 over par.

SUCCESS REPEATED NAVY OFFICERS BEAT ARMY

(By "The Pilgrim")

In their return friendly hockey fixture at King's Park yesterday, the Navy Officers, on their own ground, repeated their former success over Army Officers by a clear margin of three goals.

Navy Officers were the better team not so much because they played well themselves but because the Army men played so badly. The Army attack never seemed to get going and gave a most disappointing display. Twenty minues through the first half, the Navy established an as-cendancy and led by 2-0 before the interval arrived. Lieut. Blacker, after a well-organised movement on the left, tested Lieut. Metcalf, making the latter leave his charge for a good clearance. The ball was only partially cleared to the edge of the circle, however, and Lleut. Spittle obtained gave the goul-keeper little time for recovery. A few minutes later in a Navy left-winger, the ball was driven across the Army goal-mouth and Surg. Lieut. Commdr. Fietcher dashed in from the right and found the net with a well-placed shot.

ARMY IMPROVES

Capt. Stupleton broke up numerous and Ireland last winter has been duties and powers of a referee it will dangerous raids by Lieut. Blacker, Lieut. Donald and Lieut. Fletcher. Spurred on by this resistance, the Navy Officers exerted pressure in the attack and shortly before the final whistle sounded, Lieut. Blacker, inside right, increased their lead with a scorehing drive which left Lieut. Metcalf standing.

Few spirited attempts were made by Capt. Loch, leader of the Army attack, to reduce the deficit, but poor of it that in a fortnight Gadney was happened recently. assistance was rendered him by his wing men. Lieut. Hook and Lieut. The Navy Officers showed up better as a team. Lieut, Donald led the attack well with Lieut, Blacker, and Licut. Fletcher proving the greatest menace to the Army defence. Lieut. Commdr. BREAK LAWS WITH IMPUNITY Rugby Rulers And Offences In The Scrummage

Admiral Royds has made it clear that their chief complaint is what goes on around a scrum, where, the board maintain, things go on that are so self-evident that they felt they had to draw the attention of international referees to them.

Amoy, Oct. 26 (1.44 p.m.).
The air alarm siren screamed at 9.30 a.m. announcing the coming of Japanese aeroplanes and the streets were cleared instantly. Two Japanese planes appeared, one, of them leaving after a short while.
The other dropped four bombs on the Forts at Amongkang. No great damage was done. Two men are reported to have been killed. At 10.30 the plane left. No attempt was made to fire on the raiders.

There was heavy gun fire at 3 a.m. this morning between the Outer Forts and 11 blockeding warships.
Yesterday a Japanese sounding party off Quimoy was fired on by Chinese volunteers. The fire was returned by the Japanese after which they returned to their ship.—Our Own Correspondent:

This allegation was brought out when the man and the woman were charged before Mr. K. Keen at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning with assaulting a child under, 16 years of age. The man pleaded guilty but the woman claimed trial. However, she was convicted after evidence had been heard, and like her husband, was fined $250 or five months imprisonment in default. corner for an additional cupboard unit.
These units are useful for providing extra storage space upstairs. For example, a unit dressing table might be flanked on one side by a low-cupboard for boots and shoes, and on the other by a unit wardrobe, which can be set apart for the husband's use:

Boots & Shoes

A boot and shee cupboard is in any case a practical addition to the bed-room. It is fitted with a double tier of racks (these allow the air to circulate round the shoes) and a curtain pulls ncross the front.

One particularly sensible wardrobe has sliding doors and is made 21 inches deep so that it will take coat hangers comfortably.

It is nometimes a good plan to put especially if you use it for storing clothes not in everyday use.

Bathroom cabinet and medicine cupboard go without saying, but I find a small cupboard for bath cleaning materials handy, and it saves a good deal of running up and down stairs. Put it alongside the bath, enamel it to match the rest of the scheme, fit it with a cork or limiteum top, and you have a useful stool.

Ceiling High

Two ceiling-high built-in cupboards, with a smaller one between them, make a practical fitment for one wall in the dining room, and it can sometimes be constructed from two existing cupboards.

In this case face the doors with plywood, fit them with plain bar handles, and enamel them to bring them into line with the rest of the scheme. One

Make the most of the space under the sink. This can be entirely boxed in, and there is usually room for two goodsized cupboards, still allowing free access to the waste pipe. These can be kept for pails and scrubbing brushes. Screw hooks to the inside of the doors for floor cloths.

Cupboards for glass and china are best built on the shallow side, so that everything is "get-at-able." Shelves should be just wide mough to take one pile of pintes.

Extra food cupboards depend on the size of the kitchen cabinet and larder, but I find that a separate one for dry stores relieves pressure on the larder when extra supplies are ordered at holiday times.

Some of these cupboards have venfilated top sections, and so can be used for storing meat, butter and milk. Cupboard linings are important. Those in the living rooms look attrac-

FRIENDSHIP WITH FRANCE

(Continued from Page 6.) sentimental and emotional race, which for all its sentiment and emotion has a hard core of resolution in its heart. But writers and thinkers like Andre Maurols understand us: there are more of them in France to-day than ever there were, The popularity of Maurois, with British readers is an index to the importance of this factor of-Understanding.

How are we to ensure the progressive development of that all-significant quality? The answer, surely, lies in the word Education. Not the mere education of school and University, though that is important; but the wider education which is acquired by men and women of the world through human contacts.

We still know little of the realities of each other's lives on both sides of the English Channel. The French are not travellers, but stayat-homes. They think there is no country on earth like their own, and who shall blame them? And so, having the best, they do not leave

Frenchmen should travel .more. In particular, they should come more often to Britain, to see how we live, and what it is that makes us, despite all our failings from illoglcality and sentimentality downwards, a power still in the affairs of the modern world.

We travel more than the French. We always have been travellers, for downs at this Wharf. business and pleasure alike. But, so far as France is concerned, we see as a rule that part of the country which is cosmopolitan, and therefore has nothing distinctive to teach to the student of national idiosyncrasy and characteristics. Where Woman Rules

How many Britons have ever realised that France is primarily an agricultural country, in which family life is all-important and the woman holds the purse-strings. "The women govern France," a Frenchman said to me. I might have answered by asking him how that could be, since French women have not got the vote. I did not, because I knew that what he said was true, vote or no vote.

In money matters the French woman has the power. She is the effective government of France. When she says, "No," It is time for politicians to call a halt and look into things.

But it has always been the traditional attitude in this country, whilst conceding that woman does rule the roost in France, to regard her rule as one of frivolity. There was a time, not so long ago, when the Englishman's habit was to fix his monocle in his eye and remark com-placently, "Ah, yes—the French. Such an esseminate nation!"

Now, effeminate nations do not bring up Napoleons. But nations which take their womanhood seriously produce great men, the sons of brillant and purposeful mothers. This is one of the significant things which we have to learn about

There is, indeed, so much we have to learn from each other, and it is so important to the future of humanity that it should be learned. The qualities of the two nations are complementary in a very full sense. Learning from Each Other

FLIGHTS RESCUE MAY HAVE SERVED ANOTHER PURPOSE

A sensational story of Anglo-American secret service intrigue in the Pacific in connection with the aerial search for illfated Amelia Earhart is told in a recent issue of Smith's Weekly, the Australian national weekly.

Behind the disclosures lies the reason why, the newspaper believes, Great Britain is refortifying Hongkong, and why the Arjerican Government has abandoned its policy of Isolation in favour of co-operation with Great Britain in the defence of Pacific interests.

"Until now the real story has been withheld of the desperate international intrigue that went on with the search for Amelia Earhart, when that intrepid aviatrix crashed into the Pacific somewhere near the Phoenix Islands," says Smith's Weekly.

"It is a story of military tactics that went hand in hand with that search—hand is hand with the terrific expense of U.S.$2,500,000 spent on American naval planes.

Flying By The Stars

Owing to the remarkable development of long distance flying during the past few years, the problem of air-navigation become increasingly important. At present the chie. methods by which a pilot can discover his position are, firstly, "dead reckoning," secondly, by wireless directional signals. As the former method is sometimes inaccurate and the latter restricted in range, the necessity of discovering new methods has been apparent ever since the aeroplane first became jumped at it. a factor in world transport. The Court comprised Capt. C. B. Barry, D.S.O. (H.M.S. Mcdway), President; Capt. A. E. M. B. Cunning. ham Graham (H.M.S. Tarantula), Capt. E. G. N. Rushbrooke, D.S.C., (Captain on the Staff), Cmdr. R. M. Rick, D.S.C., (H.M.S. Dainty), Cmdr. E. M. Loly (H.M.S. Westcott).

Cmdr. C. B. Arbuthnot, (H.M.S. Tamur) prosecuted and was assisted by Pay,-Lt.-Cmdr. S. A. Jollife (H.M.S. Tomar). The Defending Officer was Warrant Writer J. Brain (H.M.S. Tamar). Pay.-Cindr. H. G. Oswin was Deputy Judge Advocate. The charges were: 1, that accused being entrusted with $81.36 to obtain a cash remittance order for C.E.R. A. P. Wilson, (H.M.S. Seamew). fraudulently converted the money to his own use on August 14; 2, negligently failed to deliver to Pay,-Lieut. J. O. Britton the above sum on the same day.

DETAIL OF CHARGE

The circumstantial letter stated that: Wilson called at the Tamar to draw his Naval Pension. The sum of $408.20 was paid him by Pay.-Lt.-Cmdr. Britton, the Assistant Ac-countant Officer. Wilson then asked accused, who is the senior accountant rating in that office, if he could remit £5 of his pension money to his wife. The accused assented, made out Form S.66 in triplicate for £5 in favour of Mrs. Elsie K. Wilson, 3, Larkfield Avenue, Gillingham, Kent. Chief Engine Room Artificer Wilson signed · the form and handed $81.36 to accused. The official rate of the Hongkong dollar was then is, 234d,

The necused, saying that he "would give this money to the Paymaster right away," left the office ostensibly to do so. He returned and said to Wilson: "That is all right, it will be forwarded by the next Air Moil and I will send on your receipt." On September 23 Wilson received a cable money. from his wife asking him to send her £5 so that she might settle her district rates. They noted that the remittance was made out in the handwriting of the accused.

Lending Writer Elliott decided to pursue the matter and, having deinched the three sheets and locked them up in his own drawer, replaced the remittance book in the drawer in which he had found it. On October 8 Elliott interviewed Wilson and then reported the circumstances to Pay-Lt,-Cmdr, Britton.

Later, - Pay.-Lt. Cmdr. Britton ordered a search to be carried out in the Pay office for the missing remittance book. In this search, the accused, Elliott and Jeffery took part. On the accused professing himself unable to produce the book Pay-Lt.-Cmdr. Britton went to the Pay Office and ordered all locked drawers to be opened. The accused unlocked his drawer, The book was

Palestine Problem

Sir,-I read with interest your leader of the 19th instant in the unscitled conditions in Palestine, and I must say you have hit the right nail in explaining the Arabs mentalities. though you did it with a touch of sympathy and a kindly tone.

The Arab, you said, belongs to a proud and ungovernable race, and I may add, unruly and troublesome if he is left uncurbed and unchecked. In the months immediately following the departure of the king and the proclamation of the Spanish Republic, in April 1931, there were numerous attacks on churches and convents, and, in a joint pastoral letter issued on June 14 of the same year, the Bishops condemned these outrages, warned Catholics of their duty to vote nt the elections only for candidates guaranteed to protect religion and the social order, and at the same time exhorted them to obey the duly con-

Neville Cardus Sums Up England's Game

The cricket season came in like a lamb and has gone out like a lion. After cold days in May the sunshine blessed our fields, and batsmen lifted up their hearts. Prodigious quantities of runs have been made, and brilliantly made.

A neck-and-neck race for the county championship saw Yorkshire win by a short nose; Northern dourness conquered Southern vivaciousness at the crisis.

Patsy Hendren scored a century in his last match at Lord's and a wonderful scene ensued in the mellowing August warmth; the crowd sang "Auld Lang Syne;" even the patricians of the Lord's pavilion staggered to their feet, cleared their chest registers of gathering bronchitis, and emitted fervent crotchets and quavers.

And to bring down the curtain with merit a second glance from Bradman, BOXING a flourish, Yorkshire accepted a McCabe and their colleagues. challenge by Middlesex to a match at the Oval. Good days, great fun, with large happy crowds and happy county treasurers!

HOCKEY PREVIOUS SUCCESS REPEATED

NAVY OFFICERS BEAT ARMY

(By "The Pilgrim")

In their return friendly hockey fixture at King's Park yesterday, the Navy Officers, on their own ground, repeated their former success over Army Officers by a clear margin of three goals.

Navy Officers were the better team not so much because they played well themselves but because the Army men played so badly. The Army attuck never seemed to get going and gave a most disappointing display. . Twenty minues through the first half, the Navy established an ascendancy and led by 2-0 before the interval arrived. Lieut. Blacker, after a well-organised movement on the left, tested Licut. Metcalf, making the latter leave his charge for a good clearance. The ball was only partially cleared to the edge of the circle, however, and Lieut. Spittle oblained gave the goal-keeper little time for recovery. A few minutes later in a breakway by Sub. Licut. Turner, the Navy left-winger, the ball was driven across the Army goal-mouth and Surg. Lieut. Commdr. Fletcher dashed in from the right and found the net with a well-placed shot. ARMY IMPROVES

Slight improvement was seen in the Army defence on the resumption. Lieut, Tomlinson, Lieut. Douglas and Capt. Stapleton broke up numerous dangerous rolds by Lieut. Blacker, Lieut, Donald and Lieut, Fletcher.

Spurred on by this resistance, the Navy Officers exerted pressure in the attack and shortly before the final whistle sounded, 'Lleut, Blacker, inside right, increased their lead with a seorching drive which left Lleut. Metcalf standing.

Few spirited attempts were made by Capt. Loch, leader of the Army attack, to reduce the deficit, but poor assistance was rendered him by his wing men. Lleut. Hook and Lleut. Tarr, inside right and inside left respectively, worked hard but never looked like scoring. The Navy Officers showed.up-better as a team. Lieut. Donald led the attack well with Lieut. Blacker, and Licut. Fletcher proving the greatest menace to the Army defence, Lieut. Commdr. Malcolm, Lieut. Spittle and Licut. Poulden were reliable halfbacks and Lieut. O'Sullivan was the better of the backs.

Referees complained that the circular gave the impression, that these games are especially foul affairs, with cheating rampant and the referee a passive onlooker. The board did not mean to convey the idea:

Admiral Royds has made it clear that their chief complaint is what goes on around a scrum, where, the board maintain, things go on that are so self-evident that they felt they had to draw the attention of international referees to them. Most particularly are they con-

RAIDERS

Amoy, Oct. 28 (1.44 p.m.). The air alarm siren screamed at 9.30 a.m. announcing the coming of Japanese aeroplanes and the streets were cleared instantly. Two Japanese planes appeared, one of them leaving after a short while. The other dropped four bombs on the Forts at Amongkang. No great damage was done. Two men are reported to have been killed. At 10.30 the plane left. No attempt was made to fire on the raiders. There was heavy gun fire at 3 a.m. this morning between the Outer Forts and 11 blockading warships. Yesterday a Japanese sounding party off Quimoy was fired on by Chinese volunteers. The fire was returned by the Japanese after which they returned to their ship.—Our Own
